COVID-19 Research Roundup

March 15, 2021

Parksville, Vancouver Island
On February 19, 2021, Canadian and US officials agreed to extend the closure of the border between the two countries to non-essential travel until at least March 21, 2021.

Information provided in this Research Roundup Report highlights not only local insights, but global insights which may be applicable to BC now.

BC’s Restart Plan

The phased approach to BC’s Restart Plan is on pause for the duration of province-wide restrictions, as noted below.

Province-wide restrictions
To get COVID-19 transmission under control, the Province is urging all British Columbians to press pause on all non-essential travel and stay in their local community. Some insights noted in this Research Roundup were gathered prior to this announcement by BC’s Provincial Health Officer, Dr Bonnie Henry, originally given on November 19 and reinforced on December 7, 2020, January 7, 2021, and February 5.

With the 1st anniversary of the pandemic on March 11, a recent article by Skift outlined 10 learnings for travel and tourism:

1. The world must be prepared for future pandemics
2. Vaccines are necessary and should be coupled with other tools, such as a vaccine passport
3. Islands will likely be the preliminary tourism hotspots
4. With differing outgoing travel bans, key markets must be re-examined
5. Domestic travel should be nurtured
6. The meaning of travel is being rethought
7. The economic situations of markets must be considered
8. Some consumers are seeking ancillary offerings, such as Emirates selling spare seats based on customer feedback
9. Contact-free travel is now widely considered
10. People expect sustainability
