The 2006 Travel Activities and Motivations Survey (TAMS), was a comprehensive survey of North American households designed to examine the recreational activities and travel habits and behaviours of Americans and Canadians over the past two-year period.

The survey was conducted in Canada and the United States between January 2006 and June 2006. Only adults (18 years and over) were recruited to complete the survey. The reference period for the data is 2004 and 2005.

TAMS was a partnership of the following organizations:

The Ontario Ministry of Tourism
The Ontario Tourism Marketing Partnership
The Canadian Tourism Commission
The Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency
The Department of Canadian Heritage
Parks Canada
Statistics Canada

The Quebec Ministry of Tourism
Tourism Manitoba
Tourism Saskatchewan
Alberta Economic Development
Tourism British Columbia¹
The Government of Yukon
The Government of Northwest Territories

Alex Athanassakos of the Ontario Ministry of Tourism served as the project manager for the TAMS partnership.

This report was prepared by Lang Research Inc. on behalf of the project partners. Tourism British Columbia is pleased to acknowledge the major and continuing role played by the Ontario Ministry of Tourism in the TAMS partnership.

¹ Tourism British Columbia's participation was supported financially by the Ministry of Tourism, Sport and the Arts.

Executive Summary

Over the last two years, 6.9% (1,715,769) of adult Canadians went cross-country skiing or snowshoeing while on an out-of-town, overnight trip of one or more nights. Crosscountry skiing or snowshoeing was the 14th most common outdoor activity undertaken by Canadian Pleasure Travellers while traveling in the past two years. Sameday crosscountry skiing (4.6%) and snowshoeing (3.2%) were much more popular than backcountry skiing as an overnight touring trip (0.9%). 35.3% (605,715) of Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers cited this activity as the main reason for taking at least one trip.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are more likely to be female (54.0%) and slightly over-represented among those 18 to 34 years of age. They also especially overrepresented among Young Singles and Young Couples. They are the most likely of the 21 outdoor activity types to have a university education (44.8%) and their household income ($78,897) is also above-average. They are most commonly live in Quebec.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are frequent travellers. They were the most likely of the 21 outdoor activity types to have taken a trip within their own province or region (96.6%) and the second most likely to have traveled to a non-adjacent province or region (42.4%) in the last two years. They were especially likely to have visited Quebec, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and the Northern Territories in the last two years. Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are less likely to take out-of-country trips. They were the 14th most likely to have visited the United States (54.9%), the 19th most likely to have visited Mexico (12.3%) and the 10th most likely to have taken a Caribbean trip (18.9%).

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were highly active in both outdoor activities and culture and entertainment pursuits while traveling. Relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers exhibited particular interest in nature-based activities (e.g., hiking, climbing & paddling, wilderness tours) as well as physically challenging winter (e.g., downhill skiing & snowboarding) and summer activities (e.g., sailing & surfing, exercising & jogging). They were also very active in culture pursuits (e.g., literary & film festivals, high art performances, aboriginal cultural experiences) reflecting their keen interest in learning. They seek vacations that are unique and different, intellectually stimulating and physically challenging.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are above-average users of the Internet to plan (76.7%) and book travel (49.2%). They were also more likely than others to use guidebooks and official tourism information to plan trips. They can be effectively targeted through the travel media, through nature, outdoors and science media and though news and current events media.

Travel Activity and Motivation Survey (TAMS)

The TAMS survey examines the recreational activities and travel habits of Canadians and Americans. The survey examines out-of-town, overnight travel behaviour of one or more nights over the past two years and provides detailed information on Travellers' activities, travel motivators, places visited, type of accommodation used, impressions of Canada, its provinces and territories, demographics and media consumption patterns.

TAMS represents a comprehensive assessment of travel behaviour and motivators and provides a rich and authoritative database by which to develop marketing strategies and travel products to attract visitors to Canada. In particular, TAMS was designed to:

- Identify existing and potential tourism markets;
- Measure the likelihood of these tourism markets being attracted to vacation experiences in Canada;
- Create packaging opportunities for each of these markets;
- o Determine how to reach these markets (i.e., in terms of media strategies); and
- o Provide information on how to fine-tune and target existing marketing campaigns.

TAMS was sponsored by the following organizations:

Ontario Ministry of Tourism
Ontario Tourism Marketing Partnership Corporation
Canadian Tourism Commission
Atlantic Canada Tourism Partnership
Department of Canadian Heritage
Alberta Tourism, Parks, Recreation and Culture
Government of Northwest Territories

Quebec Ministry of Tourism Travel Manitoba Tourism Saskatchewan Parks Canada Agency Tourism British Columbia Government of Yukon Statistics Canada

The survey was conducted in Canada and the United States between January 2006 and June 2006 and it includes only adults (18 years and over). The reference period for the data is 2004 and 2005.

The Canadian database is used in this current report. This survey was conducted by Statistics Canada. 31,699 completed questionnaires were returned. The data have been weighted to project the results to the Canadian population.

This report profiles persons who went cross-country skiing or snowshoeing while on a trip and compares them with other Canadian Pleasure Travellers (i.e., those who took at least one pleasure trip or vacation in the last two years). This report is part of a series of 44 Activity Reports prepared using the Canadian TAMS database.

- 1 "Non-X-Country Skiers & Snowshoers" are defined as individuals who took at least one out-of-town, overnight pleasure trip of one or more nights in the last two years but did not cross-country ski or snowshoe on any trip. The number of X-Country Skiers & Snowshoers and Non-X-Country Skiers & Snowshoers equals the number of Pleasure Travellers.
- 2 The "Index" is calculated by dividing the percent for X-Country Skiers & Snowshoers in each group by the percent of Pleasure Travellers in each group. The Index indicates the extent to which X-Country Skiers & Snowshoers are over or under-represented relative to the average Pleasure Traveler. An index of 100 means the percent participating in the activity is the same as that of the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler. Index values over 100 indicate that those participating in the activity are over-represented relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler. Index values less than 100 indicate that those participating in the activity are under-represented relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler.

Travel Activity (During Last Two Years)

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are frequent travellers within Canada. They were the most likely of the 21 outdoor activity types to have taken a trip within their own province or region (96.6%) and the second most likely to have traveled to a non-adjacent province or region (42.4%). However, they were only the 11th most likely to have traveled to an adjacent province or region in Canada (57.2%). They were especially likely to have visited Quebec, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and the northern territories.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are less likely to take out-of-country trips. They were only the 14th most likely to have visited the United States (54.9%), the 19th most likely to have visited Mexico (12.3%) and the 10th most likely to have traveled to the Caribbean (18.9%). However, they were the 3rd most likely of the 21 outdoor activity types to have taken a trip to an overseas destination (50.2%) in the past two years.

Appeal of Selected U.S. States, Canadian Provinces and Canadian Territories

The respondents were asked to rate the appeal of each of Canada's provinces and territories on a ten-point appeal scale where "10" is "Very Appealing" and "1" is "Very Unappealing". They were also asked to rate selected U.S. states (New York State, Colorado, Florida, California, Hawaii and Arizona) to provide a frame of reference.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers have more positive impressions of many Canadian destinations than others and especially British Columbia, Alberta and Quebec (Note: This segment is concentrated in Quebec). They also have more positive impressions than others of the northern territories (I.e., Yukon, NWT, Nunavut).

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers also have more positive impressions of New York State and Colorado than others, although they have a slightly less favourable impression of Florida than the typical Canadian Pleasure Traveler.

Other Outdoor Activities Pursued While on Trips

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were much more active than the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler in outdoor pursuits while on a trip. They frequently went hiking, climbing and paddling, boating and swimming (e.g., motorboating, swimming in lake) and wildlife viewing. Relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers exhibited particular interest in nature-based activities (e.g., hiking, climbing & paddling, wilderness activities, wildlife viewing) as well as physically challenging winter (e.g., downhill skiing & snowboarding, ice-skating) and summer activities (e.g., cycling, fresh water scuba and snorkeling, sailing & surfing, exercising & jogging). This high level of physically challenging outdoor activity is quite common in young, well-educated travellers.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are also quite active in outdoor activities when not traveling. In addition to going cross-country skiing, this segment frequently goes hiking, cycling, swimming and exercises at home or at a fitness club. Relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are especially active in canoeing or kayaking, downhill skiing, racquet sports, rollerblading and snowboarding. However, they are less likely to go golfing or ATVing than the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler.

Relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are especially likely to patronize local live arts performances (e.g., opera, ballet, classical musical concerts, live theatre, jazz clubs), visit local art galleries and shows and go to local day spas. Accommodation Stayed In While on a Trip

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers most often have stayed at public campgrounds in the last two years. However, they have also frequently stayed at lakeside or riverside resorts, ski or mountain resorts and seaside resorts. Relative to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were especially likely to have stayed in a wilderness setting (e.g., wilderness campsite, car-accessible lodge, remote or fly-in lodge or outpost), health spa, inn or resort with gourmet dining, farm or guest ranch and cooking school in the past two years. This reflects this segments keen interest in novelty when they travel.

Tours and Cruises Taken During Past Two Years

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were more likely than the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler to have taken tours in the past two years. They most often took self-guided sameday tours, scenic countryside drives and city tours. However, compared to the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler, they were much more likely to have taken wilderness tours, tours of wineries and factories and overnight, multi-location tours. Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were also more likely to have taken freshwater cruises (e.g., St. Lawrence River cruises). However, they were no more likely than the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler to have taken an ocean cruise.

Benefits Sought While On a Vacation

As with most Canadian Pleasure Travellers, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers take vacations to get a break from their day-to-day environment, to relax and relieve stress, to enrich family relationships, to see or do something new or different and to create lasting memories. However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are especially likely to value vacations that offer novelty (e.g., see and do something new and different), provide intellectual stimulation (e.g., enrich their perspective on life, gain knowledge of the history and culture of a destination) and physical challenges (e.g., to be challenged physically / feel physically energized).

Other Attributes of a Destination Considered Important

As with most Canadian Pleasure Travellers, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers consider it important that they feel safe at a destination, although to a lesser extent than others. They also consider it more important that a destination has camping available. On the other hand, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers consider it less important that a destination has no health concerns, offers low cost package deals and mid-range priced accommodation, is directly accessible by air, has great shopping opportunities and has a familiar culture and language.

How Destinations are Selected

As with most Canadian Pleasure Travellers, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers usually begin planning trips with a particular destination in mind. However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are more likely than others to first consider what activities they would when planning a vacation. This is especially the case when planning winter vacations.

Trip Planning and Information Sources Consulted

The majority of Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were responsible for planning trips either on their own (46.6%) or with someone else (11.4%). However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are more likely than others to plan trips on their own.

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers consult a wider range of travel information sources than the average Canadian Pleasure Traveler to. The majority use the Internet, word-of-mouth and past experiences to plan trips. However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are more likely than others to obtain trip planning information from official travel sources (e.g., state / province guides, visitor information centres), newspaper and magazine articles, travel guidebooks such as Fodor's, television programs and advertising and trade, travel or sports shows.

Use of the Internet to Plan and Arrange Trips

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are above-average users of the Internet to plan (76.7%) and book (49.2%) travel. In fact, they were the 4th most likely of the 21 outdoor activity types to have planned trips using the Internet and the 7th most likely to have purchased trip components online. Most use hotel or resort websites and the tourism websites of specific countries, regions or cities to plan vacations. However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are especially likely to consult the websites of specific attractions and motorcoach line. By contrast, they are less likely to use travel planning or booking websites (such as Expedia) and cruise line websites. The most commonly booked trip components using the Internet were accommodation and airline tickets. However, Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers were particularly likely to purchase tickets for rail, bus or boat / ship travel over the Internet.

Media Consumption Habits

Cross-Country Skiers and Snowshoers are avid consumers of travel-related media, including the travel sections of newspapers, travel magazines, travel websites and travel television programs. This segment may also be effectively targeted through nature, outdoor activities and science magazines and television shows (e.g., outdoor activities/sports magazines, science & geography magazines, science & nature television shows), and through news and current events media (e.g., news / current affairs television shows, network news websites). They watch late night talk shows and listen to news/talk/information radio stations reflecting their strong interest in knowledge.
